CGLBMAPA
Caucus of Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Members of the American Psychiatric Association

Volume 9, Number 3

PRESIDENT'S COLUMN: Dr. Stu Nichols

Annual Meeting: Plan to come early to Los Angeles. Caucus activities will start on Sunday, May 6, 1984, with the opening Hospitality Suite and the first Caucus party! See Terry Stein's report for further details.

By-laws: The Executive Committee, during the L.A. meetings, will propose a number of changes in the By-laws that are necessary to bring us up to date. Details of these will be presented in the next Newsletter. It is hoped that these can be enacted at the second meeting this May.

Future of the Caucus: An important, ongoing agenda item for L.A. will be the future directions of the Caucus. All members are encouraged to participate in these discussions. What services are valuable to members? What should our relationship to other gay medical and professional organizations be? How much interest is there in setting up committees within the Caucus? Now that we have CHIPS and the "Gay Committee" of the APA, should the Caucus be primarily a social, support organization?

Publications of Note: Congratulations to Dave Ostrow for his volume on STD's in Homosexual Men (Plenum Press); to him, and Emery Hetrick, and Terry Stein for their up-coming books in the APA Press' Monograph series (which should be out by the annual meeting); and to Terry and Carol Cohen for their book on psychotherapy with gay men and lesbians which is being published by Plenum Press.

Rare Breed Department: There was a very good paper presented by a friendly psychoanalyst, Richard Isay, at the winter meeting of the American Academy. Copies of this paper will be available to interested parties in L.A. at the hospitality suite.

(Editor's Note: Homophobia remains a major force operating in American psychiatry. The rest of this column can attest to the need for all Caucus members to be aware and respond as needed.)

Plans for the APA Auxiliary: As reported by Jim Krajeksi elsewhere in this Newsletter, the APA has decided to create an "umbrella organization" under which supports of the organization can be officially recognized. This umbrella was necessary because the "legal spouses" refused to associate with "other types." ("Wives are forever," as one of them told the APA Board). Despite this threat, the Board approved the creation of the auxiliary organizations. It is now time to organize. I propose that we create three groups -- the Spouses Auxiliary Group, the House-husbands Auxiliary Group, and the Psychiatrists' Homosexual Auxiliary Group -- and refer to them familiarly as SAG, HAG, and PHAG. I think it presents this development in just the right light. What do you think?...

Homophobia Is Alive And Well In The South: Ed Nix sent us news of Anita Bryant being featured as a "prominent and special guest" at the November meeting of the Southern Medical Association. He also enclosed an awful editorial for the local medical journal which pretended to be liberal (equating homosexuality with obesity, both being "deviant from the norm"). The author, Dr. Alfred A. Messer of Atlanta, uses this pretext, however, to trot out all the old myths about lonely, depressed older gays, the "deep-seated fear of women," the "ultimate decline of the species" if society does not maintain its prejudice toward homosexuality, the fear of competition with men, etc., etc., etc... Of course, he then gets around to invoking AIDS, attacks John Spiegel for his comments summarized here in the last issue of the Newsletter, and calls on psychiatrists who "understand the basis for homosexual behavior" to assert themselves "in upholding heterosexuality, marriage, and the family just as we uphold good physical health; for in them lies the future of humanity."

American Journal of Psychiatry: What's The Story? The February Issue has an article from the Masters and Johnson people on the treatment of "dissatisfied homosexual men." Many of us find several faults with this presentation, and I urge all Caucus members to write to the managing editor, Evelyn S. Myers, and object to the absence of any gay input to the editorial process in reviewing such articles. These are the same people who brought you the Pattisons' article on the religious conversion of homosexuals just two years ago. The AP does not want to acknowledge that the APA has taken steps to see that its gay membership has a voice in psychiatric matters that affect us. Please write!

These articles lead one to propose—

Homophobic Editor of the Year Award: Nominations are the above two journals and the North Carolina Medical Journal which ran the Rev. Selby's editorial "AIDS and the Moral Law" last May, as reported in the Summer, 1983, Caucus Newsletter. And now, for the envelope please.....

Enough for now. Start making your plans for Los Angeles. See you soon.

Advanced Schedule on Caucus Activities at the APA Annual Meeting in Los Angeles: Dr. Terry Stein

We have begun active planning for the APA Annual Meeting in Los Angeles and currently have arranged a tentative schedule for Caucus activities. The Opening Reception will be held on Sunday Evening, May 6, this year, and we hope to have an informal business meeting and time for informational exchange on Sunday afternoon as well. We were asked to alter the time of the Opening Reception from Monday evening, which has been the traditional night for it, so as not to conflict with the APA opening meetings. We hope this will allow even a larger number of persons to attend.

We are also planning to consolidate our formal Business Sessions into two meetings on early Monday and Tuesday evenings so that the business activities do not stretch out through the entire week. In addition, the Caucus will have a Hospitality Suite, and discussion groups will be scheduled in order to dialogue about future directions for the Caucus. Finally, we will have a Closing Reception at a member's home later in the week. The date will be set after other APA events are scheduled. We are trying to arrange all Caucus activities at a single site this year. It appears that the events mentioned above (except for the Closing Reception) will all be scheduled at the Bonaventure Hotel. This should provide easier access to activities for members than is some previous Annual Meeting locations. The LA Planning Committee has been active in assisting with the planning. We will forward a final schedule well before the meeting.

I look forward to an exciting and active time this year in Los Angeles. Mark your calendars now and plan to arrive in LA by Sunday!

Caucus of Homosexually Identified Psychiatrists: Dr. Jim Krajeski

The Fall Meeting of the Assembly was held in Washington, D.C., in November, 1983. This was the first meeting at which the Homosexually Identified Psychiatrists had elected representatives. Attending as Representative was Jim Krajeski, M.D. Stuart Nichols, M.D., attended as a substitute for Deputy Representative, Dave Kessler, M.D.

A variety of issues were discussed. They ranged from economic issues to a vote to ban smoking in the Assembly meeting. The Assembly voted to drop from membership APA members who have not paid their building assessment by December, 1984; endorsed the formation of a component on psychiatric services in the military; and recommended changes in the APA Peer Review program. The Assembly also accepted a recommendation from the Minority Representatives that: "As much as is reasonable, the APA should use the services of APA member psychiatrists with knowledge of that country or region's language and culture." This action resulted from the announcement that APA was invited by the Pentagon to provide psychiatric consultation in Grenada.

One of the most controversial issues of the Assembly meeting was the formation of a Auxiliary of the American Psychiatric Association. There was considerable opposition because of the limitation of membership to spouses of APA members or spouses of deceased APA members, which presumably excludes significant others of unmarried or gay APA members. A compromise resolution was introduced calling for an umbrella group that would permit the Auxiliary to be formed, but which would also permit other "friend of APA" type groups to be formed. This resolution resulted in a tie vote of the Assembly members, with the Speaker breaking the tie by voting in favor of this compromise. Stuart Nichols spoke against the resolution on the Assembly floor, and Jim Krajeski cast a "no" vote on behalf of HIP.

During the Assembly meeting, the Committee on Procedures asked the Minority Representatives to develop a set of procedures covering elections and to develop criteria for "graduation" from minority status. There was also approval for new minority Caucus chairpersons to attend the Fall orientation session for Presidents-elect of the District Branches at APA expense.

Report of the Committee on Gay, Lesbian, and Bisexual Issues: Dr. Jim Krajeski

The Committee met in October, 1983, in Washington, D.C. Those attending were Drs. Jim Krajeski, Peggy Hackenbruck, David Sanders, Frank Rundle, and Stuart Nichols. A primary focus for discussion was how the APA should respond to the AIDS crisis. It was decided that a separate APA component was needed to deal with this particular issue, and a recommendation was made to the Council on National Affairs that such an APA component be established. (Ultimately, a recommendation was approved by the Board of Trustees, at its December meeting, to establish an Ad Hoc Committee on AIDS.) Negotiations were also initiated with American Psychiatric Press, Inc., to publish a monograph on AIDS.

The Committee submitted a proposal for a program on issues related to coming out as the component presentation at the Annual Meeting. This was subsequently approved by the Scientific Program Committee.

There was discussion of the military’s policy of discharging gay men and women and the role of psychiatry in this process. These issues will continue to be discussed by the APA components on the Abuse and Misuse of Psychiatry and a new committee on Military Psychiatry. Several other concerns were discussed, including ethical issues insofar as they apply to psychiatry’s role with gay men and women in areas such as the military, government, and courts.

The Committee welcomes any input and recommendations for action from Caucus members. If any member is aware of specific examples of inappropriate psychiatric interventions in the military (or elsewhere), the Committee would like to be appraised of this:

Treasurer’s Report: Dr. Bob Schwartz

All members who have not paid dues in 1983-84 have been sent a reminder letter.

There is always a percentage of letters returned because of change of address, but generally, if members have not heard from me, it means their dues are current. Over half of the names on the mailing list have not paid their current dues. It is vital that the Caucus have the broad support of its members; paying the yearly dues is tangible evidence of that support. We can probably maintain the current dues rate if that occurs, but without the support, an increase will be inevitable. Whether one is active in Caucus affairs, whether one attends the annual APA meeting, or whether one in even a member of the APA, the visibility of the Caucus to our colleagues in the APA is important. The Caucus deserves support. If you have not yet paid your annual membership dues ($50.00 or $25.00 for members-in-training), please send your check payable to "CGLBMAPA" to:

NEWS UPDATES

At the December meeting, the Board of Trustees of the APA voted to join the American Psychological Association if filling an amicus brief before the United States Supreme Court in the case of People vs. Uplinger. In this case, the lower courts overturned a New York state law which prohibited loitering "in a public place for the purpose of engaging in or soliciting another to engage in certain specified legal sexual conduct." Uplinger was decided on the basis of a prior court decision, People vs. Onofre, which overturned a law criminalizing certain sexual conduct between consenting adults in private. The argument put forth by the Court in the Uplinger case was basically that if the specified sexual conduct between consenting adults in private was not illegal, then it was not illegal to loiter for the purpose of engaging in such conduct.

Because the Uplinger case was decided on the basis of the earlier Onofre decision, it is possible that this decision will also be reviewed by the Supreme Court. The primary concern was that the Court in reviewing Onofre might reinstate the so-called sodomy laws which attempt to regulate private consenting sexual acts and which have traditionally been selectively enforced against gay men and women.

Jim Krajewski presented the issue to the Board, citing the mental health consequences of discriminatory legislature. He stressed the need for responsible and sound data to be presented to the Court which would summarize the findings of psychological and psychiatric research concerning sexual behavior.

The American Public Health Association also joined the amicus brief prior to the filing deadline of December 17, 1983. The brief was essentially confined to the issues raised in Onofre. It urged the Court to not reopen the Onofre Decision, presented evidence from the research literature pertaining to issues of "variant" sexual behavior, and presented the official position statements of the Amici related to homosexuality. Oral arguments on the case were heard in January, 1984.

AIDS continues to dominate the news and concerns in the gay community. U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Secretary Margaret M. Heckler announced that the National Institute of Mental Health funded three studies of psychological factors associated with AIDS. The grants totaled $201,720, and were distributed among Dr. Jimmie Holland in New York, Dr. Jill Joseph in Ann Arbor, Michigan, and Dr. Lydia Temoshock in San Francisco. The most complete and current medical updates on AIDS and AIDS research seems to be the Newsletter of the American Association of Physicians for Human Rights. You can write AAPHR directly and inquire about joining that organization and getting on the mailing list:

Terry Stein, in his roles of Secretary and President-Elect of the Caucus, submitted the Referral List of members of the Caucus to the APA's Deputy Medical Director, Dr. Jeanne Spurlock. Hopefully, the APA can use this list to make appropriate referrals for gay male and lesbian patients. The list is arranged by state, with a comment on special interests of the individual clinician. An update of that list, originally started last year from a mailing to the members, will hopefully occur periodically.

From SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA, Dr. Bob Schwartz reports that the local group is very involved in the plans for the APA convention this year in Los Angeles. Further details will be in a Newsletter before the convention, but plan include a reception on the Sunday at the beginning of Convention week, a party in Beverly Hills Wednesday or Thursday, and a well-manned hospitality suite. A list of restaurants, night spots, etc., will be out soon.

From MICHIGAN, Dr. Terry Stein reports that things have been busy in legislative, educational, and professional levels. Two legislative efforts are underway to protect the rights of gay men and lesbians. At Michigan State University, where Terry works, he serves as the faculty advisor for a group of students and individuals from the ACLU who are attempting to add a clause to the University Bylaws to protect against the discrimination based upon sexual orientation. There is already an excellent Anti-discrimination policy at M.S.U., which includes sexual orientation, but last year the President of the University was able to ignore this policy because sexual orientation is not currently a basis for non-discrimination in the University Bylaws. The state legislature is also considering an amendment to the Civil Rights Act in Michigan which would include sexual orientation as a basis for protection of civil rights. Testimony has been heard by persons from Wisconsin, and it appears that there is some likelihood that Michigan may become the next state to provide protection for the civil rights of gay men and lesbians.

Educationally, Terry is co-teaching a course on gay men and lesbians through the Department of Psychiatry. He teaches this course with a sociologist and they invite enrollment from psychiatric residents, medical students, and other graduate students. This is the second year of the course. There is also a growing interest on the part of psychotherapists and physicians in treatment of gay men and lesbians. The first persons with AIDS in the Michigan area have been identified within the last six months, and the result in the professional community so far seems to have been to stimulate interest in the special problems of gay men and lesbians. Terry is hopeful that that will continue to be the response.

Finally, professionally, Carol Cohen, from Oakland, CA, and Terry are in the midst of co-editing a volume on psychotherapy with gay men and lesbians. The project is very exciting and many of the contributors are APA Caucus members. They have begun to receive manuscripts and believe the volume will be the first of its kind. The book will be published by Plenum. The quality of the material they have received so far has been excellent and should contribute a great deal to understanding the special issues of gay men and lesbians in psychotherapy.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Bob Cabaj

As you can see, we are still attempting to get the Newsletter out quarterly. There will be at least one more issue before the Annual Meeting, and any further mailings as needed. Material, as always, would be appreciated. Any items of local interest or letters written in response to items mentioned in the Newsletter will be used (names, of course, can be withheld). We have also had a fair number of mailings returned with "Address Unknown"; if you know anyone who has stopped receiving this Newsletter, have he or she contact me with the correct mailing address. Please forward all material, comments, address changes, etc., to:
